

Faina Lelicova

Faina Lelicova was born in 1933 in Russia. She lived in an orphanage from the age of nine to adulthood. She attended a professional school in Russia and then worked at a metalworks factory for 30 years. She moved to Moldova after she retired because she had breathing problems due to her work and the climate of Moldova. She was married in 1953, and her husband died in 2003. Faina loves to sing and shares her songs with her neighbors. She is well-read and loves to tell stories.

From 2003 to the summer of 2008 Faina attended Rasarit Day Center for the Elderly, but currently her health does not allow her to leave her home. Rasarit provides meals for her at home. Faina suffers from high blood pressure, arthritis, cataracts, a liver condition, has had five heart attacks and relies on a walker for mobility. She relies on a pension of 28 euros a month for food, medicine, and heating fuel.

Faina asks for financial support for heating fuel.
